

Street Tree Information

WA Weeping Peppermint

A common street tree throughout Perth, the WA Peppermint tree is drought tolerant, suitable for a variety of soils and provides dense shade. This species is a low allergen tree as recommended by the Asthma foundation.

Botanical Name

Agonis flexuosa

Origin

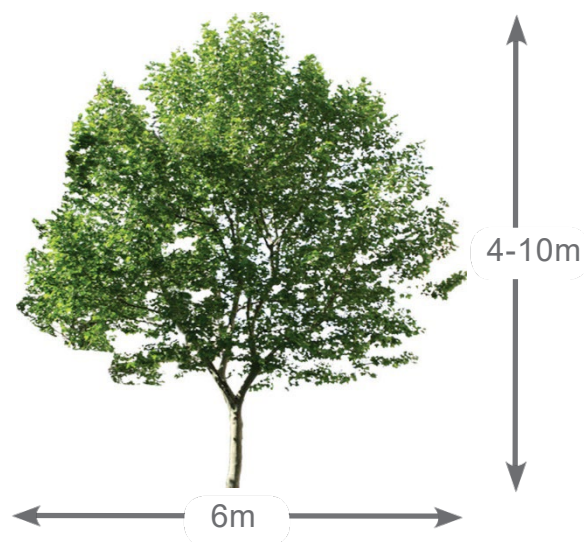

South Western Australia

Foliage

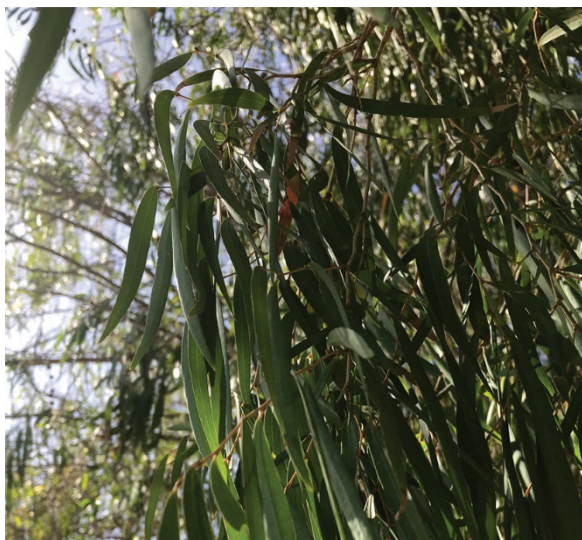

Weeping soft green leaves cover the tree, providing excellent shade.

Flowers

White flowers in spring.

- Medium sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 4m wide

Street Tree Information

Callistemon Kings Park Special

Callistemon Kings Park Special is a common street tree throughout Perth, which grows into a compact small tree. It is drought tolerant and suits a range of soil types.

Botanical Name

Callistemon Kings Park Special

Origin

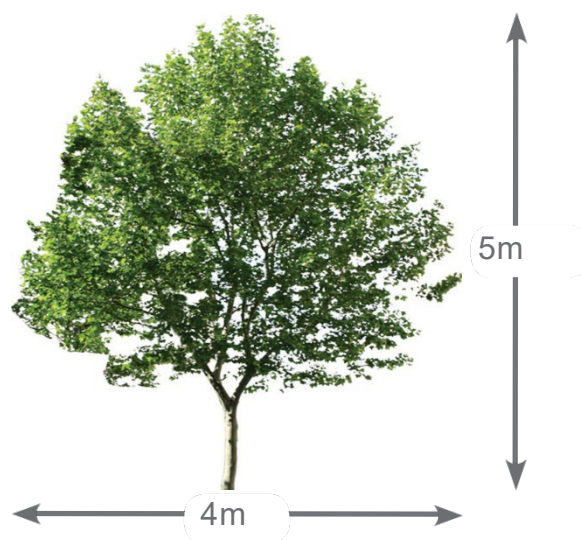

A cultivated variety developed at King's Park Botanic Garden.

Foliage

A bushy tree with dark green leaves which cover the tree all year round, providing excellent shade.

Flowers

Masses of red bottlebrush flowers in spring and summer which attract native birds.

- Small sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 3m wide

Street Tree Information

Silver Princess

The Silver Princess is an ornamental Eucalyptus known for its elegant, weeping branches and smooth silver-grey bark. It produces vibrant pink to red blossoms and is a hardy, waterwise species well-suited to a range of soil types.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus caesia

Origin

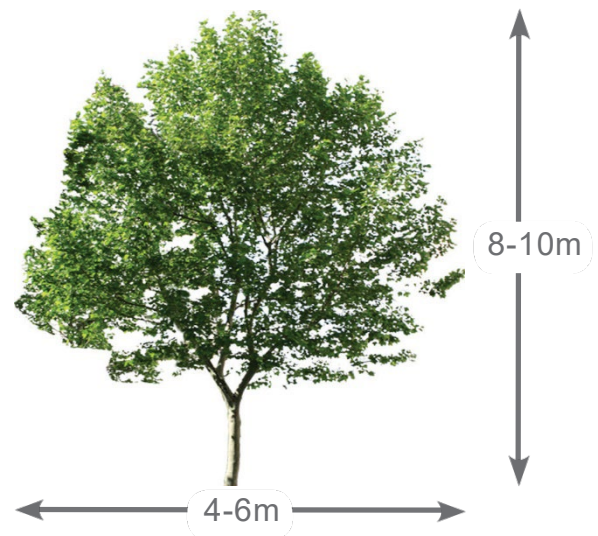

Wheatbelt region Western Australia

Foliage

Eucalyptus caesia has attractive blue grey, rounded leaves that create a soft, silvery appearance.

Flowers

Large pink to red flowers with prominent golden stamens. The blossoms are highly decorative attracting birds and pollinators, adding vibrant colour during the flowering season.

- Medium sized tree
- Evergreen
- Not suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 3m wide

Street Tree Information

Coral Gum or Coolgardie Gum

Eucalyptus torquata is a hardy, medium sized tree valued for its clusters of salmon coloured flowers and rough textured bark. It thrives in dry conditions and tolerates poor soils, making it ideal for low-maintenance landscapes.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus torquata

Origin

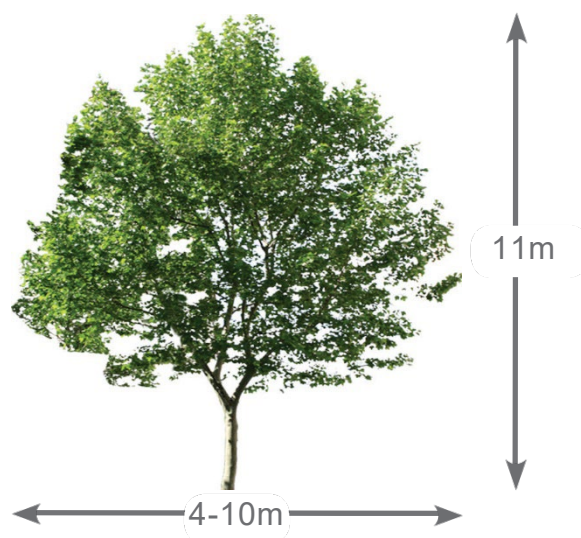

Western Australia

Foliage

Evergreen silver to green foliage.

Flowers

Spectacular bird attracting coral and/or pink-cream flowers open from spring to summer.

- Medium sized tree
- Evergreen
- Not suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 3m wide

Street Tree Information

Little Ghost Gum

The Little Ghost Gum is a dwarf variety of Eucalyptus known for its elegant weeping form and striking white trunk. A popular choice for smaller landscapes.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus victrix 'Little Ghost Gum'

Origin

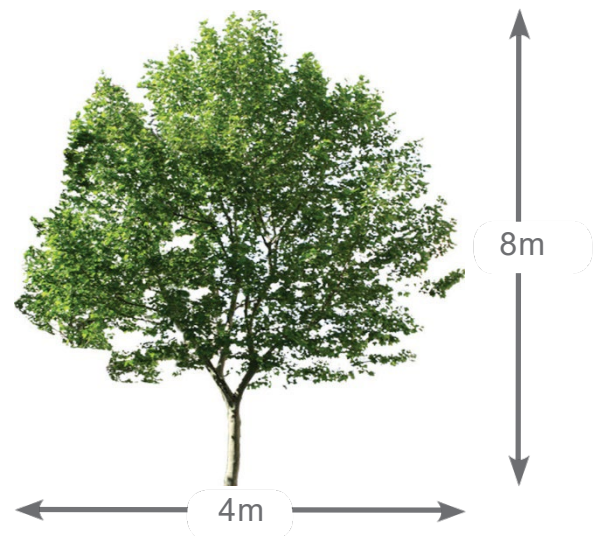

Inland Western Australia

Foliage

Open form with green foliage and distinctive smooth white bark.

Flowers

Small creamy white flowers in Spring and Summer.

- Small sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 3m wide

Street Tree Information

Slender Banksia

The Slender Banksia, also known as the Candle Banksia, is a small tree native to Western Australia. It is a slow growing, hardy, and waterwise species well-suited to local conditions.

Botanical Name

Banksia attenuata

Origin

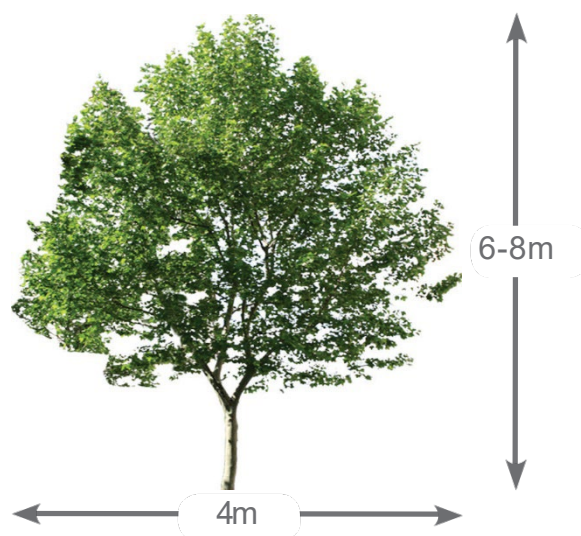

Western Australia

Foliage

Long, narrow, serrated, with a bright green upper surface and a silvery underside, giving the plant a textured appearance.

Flowers

Large, cylindrical golden yellow flower spikes appear mainly in spring and summer, attracting birds, bees, and other pollinators.

- Small sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 3m wide

Street Tree Information

Firewood Banksia

The Firewood Banksia is a small to medium sized tree native to Western Australia, valued for its striking flowers and attractive ornamental foliage. It is a slow growing, hardy, and waterwise species.

Botanical Name

Banksia menziesii

Origin

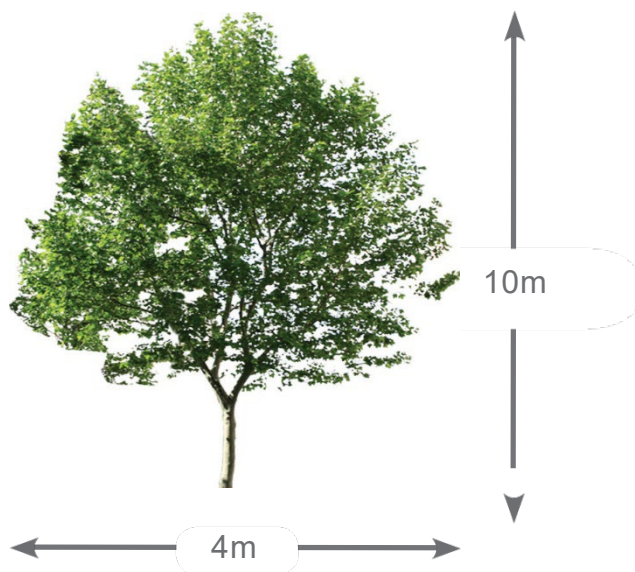

Western Australia

Foliage

Serrated wedge shaped leaves, that are dull green on top with a silvery underside. The coarse, textured leaves provide an attractive contrast to the plant's colourful blooms.

Flowers

Spectacular flower spikes in shades of red, pink, and sometimes golden hues, typically blooming from autumn through winter. The flowers are rich in nectar and attract birds, bees, and other pollinators.

- Small to medium sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 3m

Street Tree Information

Bull Banksia

The Bull Banksia is a small to medium sized tree native to Western Australia. It is admired for its bold form, large foliage, and striking flower spikes.

Botanical Name

Banksia grandis

Origin

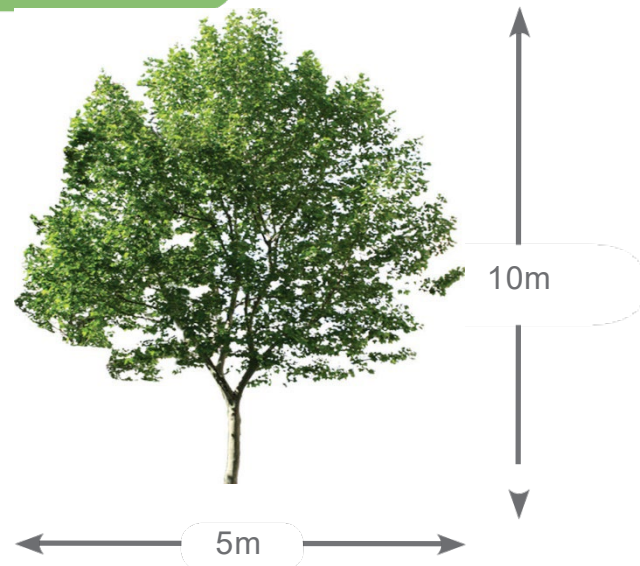

Western Australia

Foliage

Large, deep green, and prominently serrated, leaves with a leathery texture.

Flowers

Cylindrical yellow flower spikes, typically appearing in spring and early summer. Flowers are rich in nectar and attract birds, bees, and other pollinators.

- Small to medium sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 3m

Street Tree Information

Coastal Banksia

The Coastal Banksia is a large size tree native to the eastern coast of Australia. It is prized for its striking, pendulous flower spikes and distinctive foliage.

Botanical Name

Banksia integrifolia

Origin

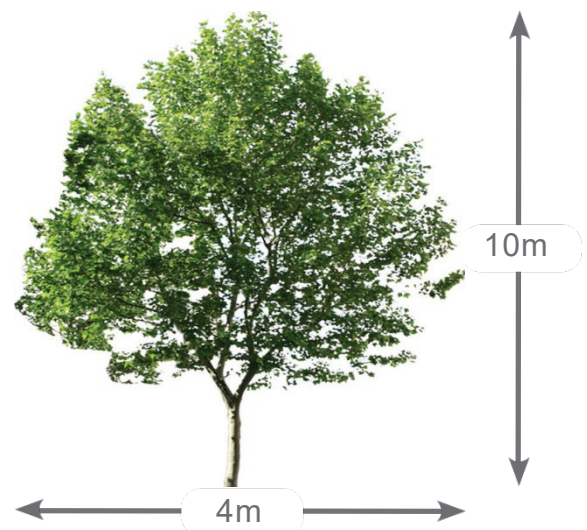

Queensland and Victoria

Foliage

Rough patterned bark and long green leaves with a silver underside.

Flowers

Large lemon yellow upright flower spikes, produced from autumn through winter to spring,

- Large sized tree
- Evergreen
- Not suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 3m wide

Street Tree Information

Yellow Dwarf Bloodwood

The Dwarf Yellow Bloodwood is a small sized tree native to New South Wales, with a compact growth habit and a slightly open canopy.

Botanical Name

Corymbia eximia 'nana'

Origin

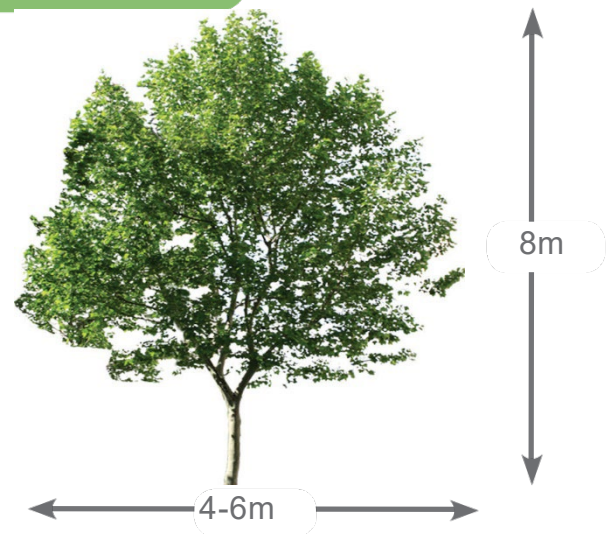

New South Wales

Foliage

The foliage is dense, dark green, and glossy, forming a neat, rounded canopy. Its attractive leaves provide a lush backdrop throughout the year.

Flowers

Creamy white, fluffy flowers in clusters, typically appearing in spring and summer. The blooms attract nectar-feeding birds and insects, adding vibrant colour to the landscape.

- Small sized tree
- Evergreen
- Not suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 3m wide

Street Tree Information

Limestone Marlock

The Limestone Marlock is a small sized mallee tree native to Western Australia. It is valued for its vibrant flowers and hardy, low maintenance growth habit.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus decipiens

Origin

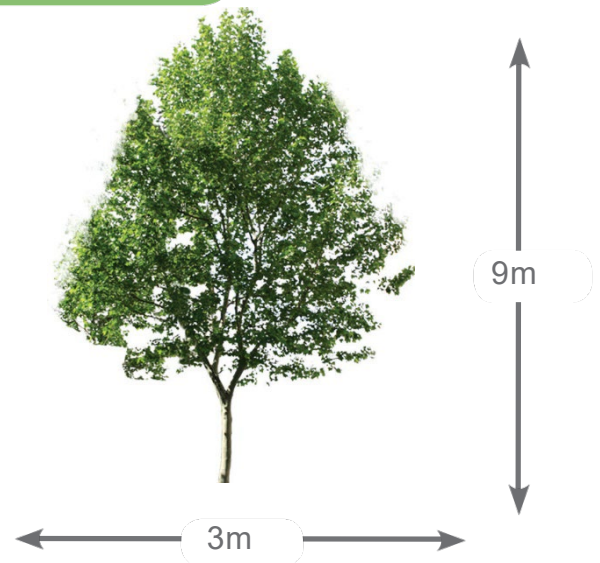

Western Australia

Foliage

Young plants have dull, blue-green, heart-shaped leaves. Mature plants develop thick, glossy green to grey green leaves.

Flowers

Creamy white flowers in dense clusters during the spring and summer months.

- Small sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 5m wide

Street Tree Information

Illyarrie

The Red flowered Mallee or Illyarrie is a small to medium sized mallee tree native to Western Australia. It is valued for its vibrant flowers and hardy, low maintenance growth habit.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus erythrocorys

Origin

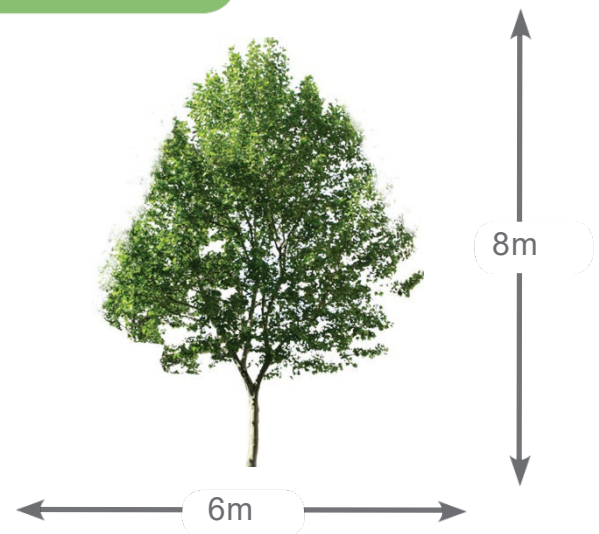

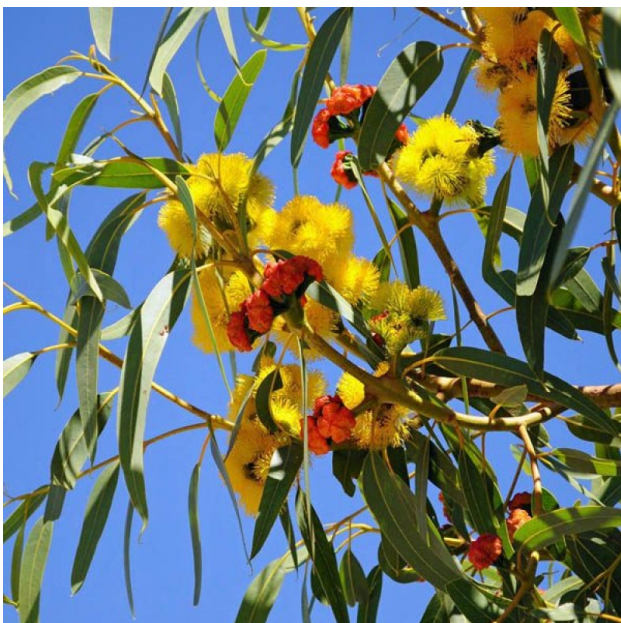

Western Australia

Foliage

The tree has narrow, lance-shaped green leaves that form an open, airy canopy. The foliage is aromatic when crushed.

Flowers

Large flowers with bright red caps and yellow stamens, typically blooming in late winter to spring.

- Small to Medium sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 5m wide

Street Tree Information

Coastal Blackbutt

The Prickly Bark or Coastal Blackbutt is a small to medium sized tree native to coastal regions of Western Australia. It is valued for its textured bark, attractive foliage.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus totitiana

Origin

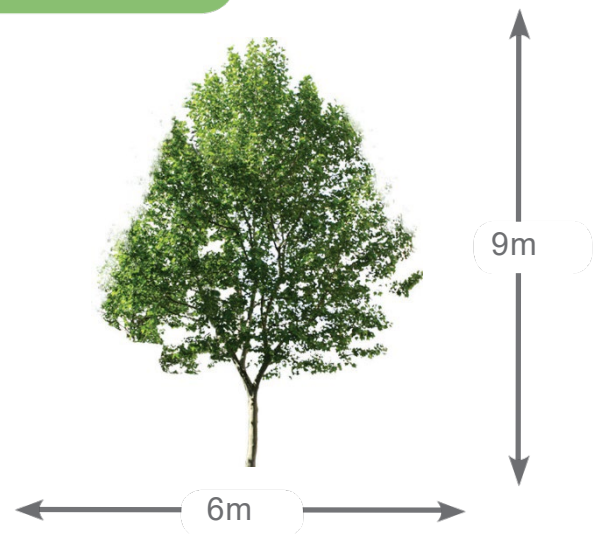

Western Australia

Foliage

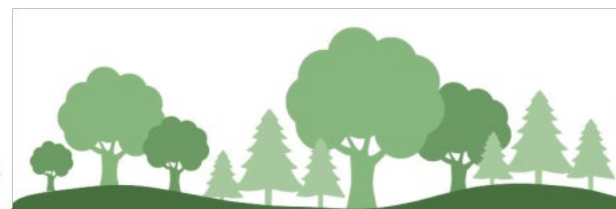

Drooping branchlets the muted, yellow green or pale green to foliage.

Flowers

Masses of white flowers blooming appear in summer and early autumn.

- Small to Medium sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 5m wide

Street Tree Information

Coastal Moort

Coastal Moort, is a small to medium sized tree native to Western Australia. It is valued for its dense rounded canopy and smooth bark.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus utilis

Origin

Western Australia

Foliage

Smooth bark, egg-shaped to lance shaped adult leaves.

Flowers

Clusters of creamy white flowers, typically appear from spring to midsummer. The nectar rich blooms attract birds, bees, and other pollinators.

- Medium sized tree
- Evergreen
- Not suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 5m wide

Street Tree Information

Fuchsia Gum

The Fuchsia Gum is a small Eucalyptus, known for its red buds that open to bright yellow flowers, creating year round visual appeal. Native to Western Australia, it is a hardy and waterwise species.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus forrestiana

Origin

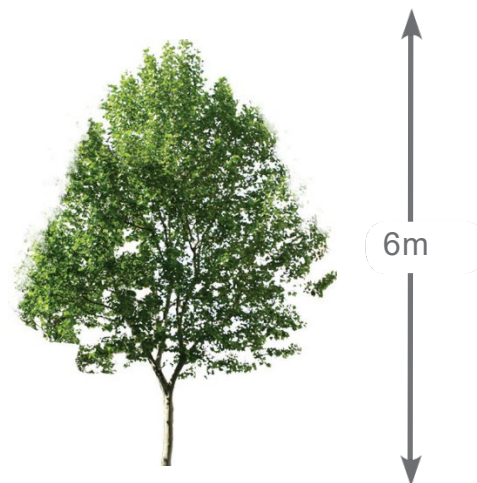

Western Australia

Foliage

Dark green and glossy when mature, with a narrow oval shape and smooth texture.

Flowers

Distinctive, bright red, four-sided buds that hang on long stalks, followed by yellow stamens that emerge as the buds open

- Small sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 5m wide

Street Tree Information

Long Flowered Marlock

Long Flowered Marlock, is a small sized tree native to Western Australia. thrives in a dry climate, it is low maintenance.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus macrandra

Origin

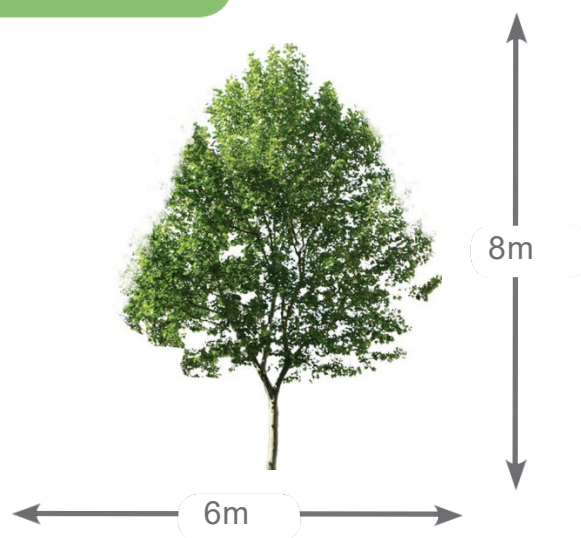

Western Australia

Foliage

Smooth bark, egg shaped juvenile leaves and glossy green, lance shaped for adult trees.

Flowers

Displays of profuse lemon coloured flowers with elongated buds. The nectar rich blooms attract birds, bees, and other pollinators.

- Small sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 5m wide

Street Tree Information

Swamp Mallet

An attractive eucalypt with fine grey green, soft foliage and distinctive smooth, pale brown bark. The tree has a slight weeping form and provides excellent shade.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus spathulata

Origin

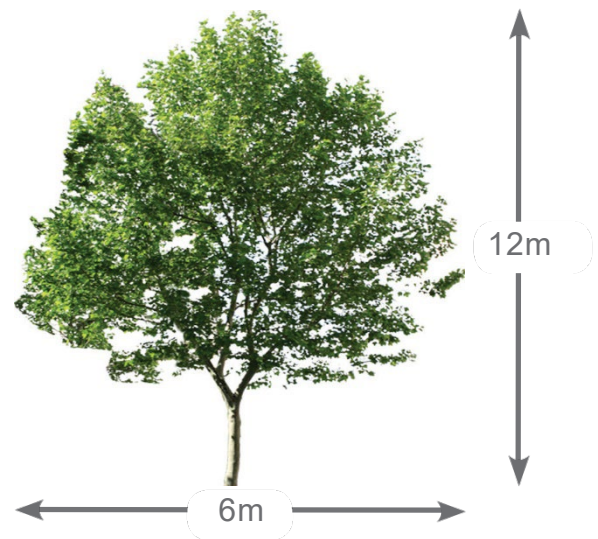

Western Australia

Foliage

Olive green coloured long thin leaves.

Flowers

White flowers in late summer and autumn which attract native birds.

- Medium sized tree
- Evergreen
- Not suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 5m

Street Tree Information

Lemon Flowered Gum

The lemon-flowered gum is native to the Victoria Desert area of Western Australia. It has smooth, grey, brown bark and a narrow growth habit with an open crown. Beautiful yellow inflorescences and fruiting capsules are heavy and cause the branches to bend, giving the tree a weeping nature.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus woodwardii

Origin

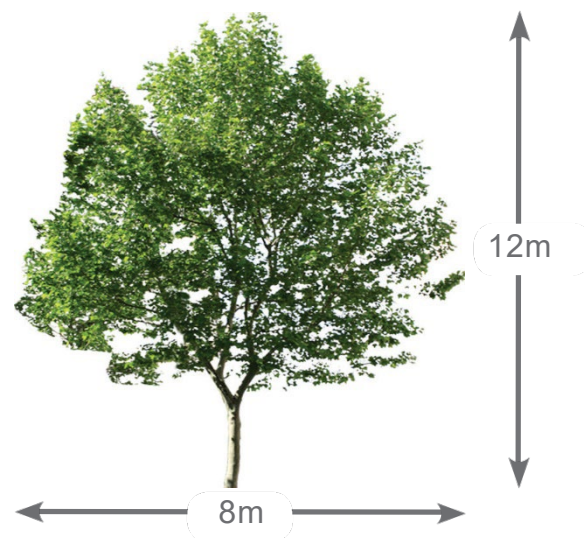

Western Australia

Foliage

Pendulous branches, smooth bark, dull grey-green leaves.

Flowers

Bright, lemon-yellow flowers in the late winter and spring. Blooms appear in clusters on weeping branches.

- Medium sized tree
- Evergreen
- Not suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 5m

Street Tree Information

Jingmia Mallee

The Jingmia is a small, slender mallee native to Western Australia, known for its strikingly beautiful flowers and smooth, powdery bark. Its elegant form and delicate colouring make it a standout choice for native gardens.

Botanical Name

Eucalyptus synandra

Origin

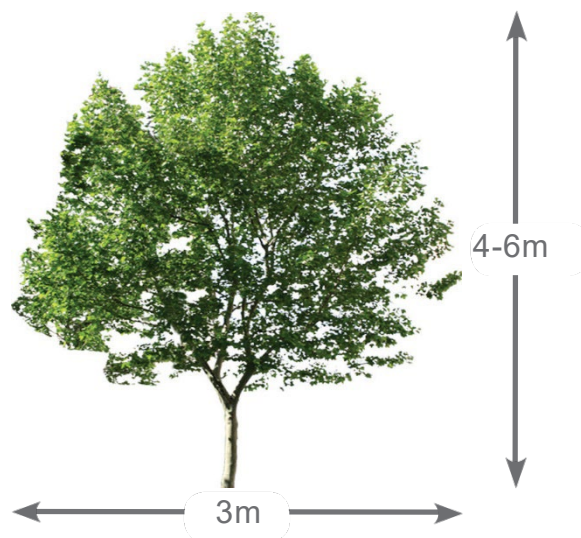

Western Australia

Foliage

Smooth, powdery bark that ranges in colour from white to pale grey or pinkish hues, complemented by soft bluish-green leaves.

Flowers

Clusters of long, pink to cream tubular blossoms that attract birds and pollinators throughout spring and early summer.

- Small sized tree
- Evergreen
- Suitable under powerlines
- Suitable for verges over 3m

