It is truly an honour to be leading a community directly elected as Mayor by the public for the first time at the 21 October Local Government Election.

I know Kwinana well and look forward to seeing it continue to thrive and grow, having served as a Councillor since 2007, and Deputy Mayor since 2013.

This edition of the Spirit of Kwinana Magazine reflects back on a busy year with some major achievements to celebrate; including national recognition (opposite page), the innovative Orelia Bike Library (page 6) which attracted metropolitan media attention for linking students with unclaimed bikes from WA Police; the positive focus on community safety through the Street by Street initiative (page 8); and what your new Kwinana Youth Advisory Council has been involved with this year (page 11).

I look forward to working not only with the hard-working staff at the City but also my fellow Councillors, some of whom are newly elected to Council.

I'd like to add a special thanks to Carol Adams OAM who led Kwinana for 17 years prior as Mayor before 'handing over the Mayoral chains' so to speak – what a legacy she has left in Kwinana to build upon!

In the coming year, you will have the opportunity to review the Precinct Plan for Kwinana's city centre and we've already enacted an overarching Sustainability Framework to ensure we continue to make sustainable decisions well into the future.

I look forward to being involved in the Lolly Run for the first time as Mayor later this month, and I wish you a safe festive season especially as this year is expected to be hotter and drier than usual so make sure you and your property are bushfire ready to see out Birak and Bunuru safely.

Mayor of Kwinana

Birak / Bunuru

The Nyoongar seasonal calendar includes six different seasons in a yearly cycle.

Birak is the 'first summer'. Known as the season of the young it is a dry and hot, burning time during December and January.

Bunuru is the 'second summer', known as the season of adolescence, and the hottest part of the year in February and March.

Welcoming your new Council

On 30 October, the new Council was officially sworn in at a Special Council Meeting with five new or re-elected Councillors, in addition to Peter Feasey being directly elected by the public as Mayor.

Councillors Michael James Brown and Sheri Wood were re-elected, while new Councillors David Acker, Ivy Penny, and Erin Sergeant were welcomed.

Chief Executive Officer Wayne Jack congratulated the new Mayor, the appointment of Cr Barry Winmar to Deputy Mayor and the five successful Councillors farewellled outgoing Mayor Carol Adams and retiring Councillor Dennis Wood.

Djilba celebrated in photo competition

This year's annual Love My Kwinana Photo Competition encouraged people to send in images of Djilba Bonar (Djilba season) to be reviewed by a panel of judges.

In the Nyoongar six seasons, Djilba is known as the second winter but is also the start of the explosion of flowers in the State's South West, so this year's collection of images exhibited at the Darius Wells Library and Resource Centre was filled with colour and nature.

The annual community calendar sent to all households features a selection of these beautiful images.

The category winners included Yashraj Singh for his image of a flowering tree submitted for the child category; Abbey Holland for her image taken in Parmelia for the youth category; and Aaron Brown as the adult category winner for his photo which the judges said showed amazing use of a blur technique called bokeh to separate the cockatoo from the tree textures.

The judging panel also gave commendations to six more people including Thor Reye and Olive Watson for the child category; Jahli Waller-Roberts and Kody Roberts for the youth category; and David Schaller and Nola Hindley for the adult category. Congratulations to all!

Year in Review - City of Kwinana's achievements

The City of Kwinana, including the Kwinana Recquatic, was recognised at a number of award ceremonies this year.

Jessie Carter (nee Burke) was named the national winner of the David Aldous Emerging Leader Award for her work to openly discuss the competing needs of sports clubs and transform the relationship between the City and the community, also securing more than $1 million in funds for sport right here in Kwinana.

Director City Development and Sustainability Maria Cooke was announced as joint winner of the Planning Institute of WA's Women in Planning Network (WPN) WA award. Maria was commended for her outstanding achievements and leadership in the profession.

Meanwhile, the Kwinana Recquatic won the Platinum Watrwise Centre of the Year award on Thursday, 4 May and was later recognised on the national stage in September as employer of choice at the AUSactive National Awards. It was also a finalist in the national Leisure Centre of the Year Awards.

City of Kwinana Healthy Lifestyle Program won two awards including the national Healthy Council Award of the Year, and the Western Australian People's Choice Medium Sized Business award.

The Wellard 7 Day Makeover received an inaugural Outstanding Achievement Award, presented as part of the Minister for Local Government's Place Innovation Awards.

The builder engaged for the extension of the City Operation's Centre, Construct 360, won the Best Government Building under $1.5 million at the recent Master Builders Association of WA Awards.

In addition to these achievements, an internal staff team known as the K-Town Navigators won the Australasian Management Challenge which pitched teams from Local Governments across Australia and NZ against one another to test their management skills.

Embracing a Sustainable Tomorrow

The City of Kwinana has taken a significant stride toward a sustainable future through the development of its Sustainability Framework. This framework aims to deliver outcomes that align with the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals, reflecting the city's commitment to sustainable practices.

The Sustainability Framework is a powerful tool that will guide the integration of sustainability throughout the City's operations and strategic initiatives. Its purpose is to responsibly address the three pillars of sustainability (environmental, social, and economic) while aligning seamlessly with the goals outlined in the Strategic Community Plan 2021-2031.

At the heart of this framework are key sustainability principles that will guide city operations and decision-making processes. These principles are:

- Generational Value Creation
- Integrated and Transparent Decision Making
- Social Inclusion
- Community Wellbeing
- Thriving Economy
- Environmental Stewardship

- Resilient and Adaptable Communities
- Decarbonisation

The development of this framework was the result of extensive research, engaging City staff, stakeholders, and community groups. Their valuable insights were instrumental in identifying priorities through community surveys, workshops, and benchmarking exercises.

The sustainability principles will inform the city's actions and initiatives, ensuring they align with the community's values and needs.

Together, we can create a brighter and more sustainable future for Kwinana, fostering a community that thrives in harmony with its environment and supports the wellbeing of all.

Join us for our annual Christmas tradition in Kwinana listen out for the cheerful chimes of the lolly run trucks and gather on your street to receive sweet treats!

On seven magical evenings leading up to Christmas, our lolly run trucks will be distributing bags of lollies to the children of Kwinana.

This event is not possible without the generous support of our community volunteers, who ride on the back of the trucks and throw the lollies to children as they pass by. Please sign up to help if you are 16 or older and would like to volunteer to be a part of this iconic event.

All events will take place between 4.30pm and 8.30pm between 17 and 23 December.

Please note that the event dates for certain areas are contingent on the availability of our dedicated fire crews.

Edible Cutlery makes Summer Sounds a tasty treat for all

In a groundbreaking and tasty move towards sustainability the City of Kwinana made history as the first Council in Western Australia to trial Edible Cutlery's products which were offered at the 7 October Summer Sounds event at Honeywood Oval. Partnering with eco-friendly company Edible Cutlery, the event delivered a dining experience that was not only delicious but also environmentally responsible. Attendees were in for a treat as they enjoyed their meals with chocolate, cheesy garlic, or oregano flavoured spoons. By incorporating Edible Cutlery into the event's menu, Kwinana demonstrated its dedication to reducing waste and championing sustainability. Food vendors enthusiastically embraced the move towards sustainability with the event also featuring a collaboration with GO2Cup, a company promoting reusable dinnerware. Vendors distributed food in these reusable containers, which were collected at a central location after use.

Fighting fires from Kwinana to Canada

Kwinana South Volunteer Bush Fire Brigade volunteer Tim Wilson left his home and family in July to spend four weeks in a tent positioned in a farmer's field in Canada.

At the time, more than 6300 fires were raging across Canada with local resources stretched thin.

The Kemiwan Complex Fire Mr Wilson was working on had been blazing for more than 100 days.

He was deployed with a team of 20 firefighters from WA, including 16 volunteers and four Parks and Wildlife personnel, to help relieve exhausted teams and return the favour to the Canadians who has travelled in the past to help Australia during our intense fire seasons.

"I have been a volunteer for 15 years with the Kwinana South Volunteer Bush Fire Brigade and have fought fires across all of WA and as far away as New South Wales," Mr Wilson said.

"The level of training we receive here in WA is second to none and we are a highly valued resource when we are deployed to assist other agencies around the world," he said.

"A typical day would start at 6am, we would be deployed by helicopter into the fire, carting the equipment we would need for the day's work on the fire line," Mr Wilson said.

"Many afternoons, a weather system would pass over the fire ground bringing more dry lightning that would start fresh ignitions that we would have to attend to the next day.

"There was no access for conventional fire trucks, the ground was frozen just below the surface and there was water everywhere, yet the fires would continue to burn, including underground, which was very different to the conditions that we experience here in Australia.

"We would work a 12 to 14-hour day then be bumped back to base to clean up and rest," he said.

Dangers included falling trees, as the trees had no significant root system.

Three local firefighters died in Canada in the first week of Mr Wilson's deployment, which hit home the dangers of the task.

"While we came home after five weeks, local crews still had two months of their season in front of them," Mr Wilson said.

But the volunteers were collectively fighting a fire like no other, often facing difficult conditions (including displaced bears, wolves, and other wildlife) on foot with hoses and pumps.

"We went to assist a community of some of the nicest people you could ever meet.

"The local crews were in an extended battle against nature that pushed them to their limits," he said.

Most heartbreaking for Mr Wilson was the unexpected loss of his father during his deployment, which he found tough to deal with while so far away, but the camaraderie of firefighters proves a unique strength and support in times of adversity.

"The days were long and physically demanding," he said.

"Our training in Australia prepared us well, we all had each other's backs and kept safety at the forefront of our operations."

The City of Kwinana manages two volunteer bush fire brigades with 100 fire fighters between both brigades.

Australian Fire Danger Rating System

The Australian Fire Danger Rating system (AFDRS) changed as of 1 September 2022 so that whether you are home or travelling you will see the same system being used.

The new system has four levels instead of six, with actions for each level so you know what to do to protect your life, family and property, in the event of a fire.

The new Australian Fire Danger Ratings (AFDRS) levels are:

Bike Library opens in Orelia

An exciting new bike library concept aims to leave a positive legacy in Kwinana by linking unclaimed or donated bikes with students at Orelia Primary School.

The bike library at Orelia Primary School enables students to borrow bikes to ride to school, just like you would borrow a book from a library, thus increasing physical activity to help prevent childhood obesity and improve emotional wellbeing.

The Orelia Bike Library is a collaborative effort between the City of Kwinana, Orelia Primary School, WA Police, and Neighbourhood Watch.

Junior Neighbourhood Watch students at Orelia Primary School are also actively involved in preparing the bike library and helping school staff register the bikes with Bikelinc.

Unclaimed bikes, scooters and parts like bells and baskets from WA Police are housed at the school, and the City is in discussion with WestCycle and RAC to help support the expansion of the bike library's inventory of bikes and scooters.

The Orelia Bike Library is an initiative that not only benefits the current community, but this model could be taken to all schools in WA.

Team Connect launches girls' cricket at Gilmore College

Volunteer organisation Team Connect engages adolescent girls in sport, specifically cricket, and the first team in Kwinana launched this year at Gilmore College.

Team Connect program coordinator Margie Oldfield inspired staff at the City of Kwinana with her International Women's Day presentation in March, and a partnership quickly formed to bring a cricket team together in Kwinana consisting of nine Year 7 students from the College.

Margie was named Cricket Australia's National Volunteer of the Year in 2017 and is currently Chair of the Community Junior Cricket Council.

"Team Connect creates a link between secondary schools and local community junior cricket clubs that supports adolescent girls to participate in organised sport, with the aim of developing a sense of belonging and commitment to their community," Margie said.

"This team forms part of the Kwinana Cricket Club, and we firmly believe in relation to Team Connect that cricket is simply a vector for building stronger communities.

"All girls should be offered the opportunity to be involved in community sport and have access to ongoing support as needed," she said.

The team enthusiastically received their new uniforms a few days prior to their first game on 21 October.

Gilmore College Student Support Staff member Kara Smith and Jamie Lee have taken on the volunteer roles as coach and manager of the team. City of Kwinana staff member Alicia Mangalavite also generously offered to be the group's Team Manager, and Team Connect provides coaching, morning tea, uniforms, registration, equipment and bus transportation to each game.

Fun Facts from Kwinana

Calista Bike Skills Track

The Calista Bike Skills Track's public launch took place in October with more than 160 faces and arms painted.

Seven kilograms of frozen fruit and 12L coconut water turned into smoothies using the smoothie bike, eight children learned to ride their bike, and 25 bikes were maintained by People on Bicycles.

Love My Leda

The City of Kwinana is embarking on an innovative project known as 'Love My Leda.'

Love My Leda stems from the heartfelt feedback of the community, echoing a collective desire for enhanced social connections and building community spirit, with a particular emphasis on bolstering community safety.

In response, the City of Kwinana has teamed up with eager residents from six streets within Leda, all of whom voluntarily signed up for a Street by Street project.

At the heart of Love My Leda is a front yard makeover for these participating residents, featuring services such as mowing, tree lopping, and the delivery of mulch and native plants. But this project goes beyond aesthetics.

The post-makeover gatherings, complete with a welcoming coffee van, are fostering a renewed sense of community spirit.

Here, neighbours come together to discuss essential topics like recycling, community safety, volunteering, and more. This innovative initiative is a true testament to Kwinana's commitment to its people, already sparking increased community interactions and the formation of valuable partnerships.

Love My Leda and its Street by Street project is not just about transforming landscapes; it's about building bridges, one front yard at a time.

A plan for the Kwinana Precinct

We are planning for the future of the Kwinana City Centre Centre!

The City is developing a plan to guide how development will look in the City Centre over the next 10 years and what types of activities would be appropriate to meet the needs and wants of the growing community.

This plan is known as a Precinct Structure Plan, and it will build on the vision and outcomes of the City Centre Master Plan developed in 2019.

Community consultation has now concluded. To keep up to date with concept development and the preparation of the draft Precinct Structure Plan go to www.lovemykwinana.com/city-centre-precinct

Boola Maara breaks new ground

The Boola Maara (Many Hands) Advisory Group provided invaluable insight and feedback on several projects this year.

The Boola Maara were consulted on the Thomas Road Public artwork; Sustainability Framework; Parks for People; the Kwinana Beats project; sites of significance for the National Areas Management Plan; event policies and guidelines; and infrastructure proposed for the Wellard West Oval.

The group also provided advice in relation to the appointment of a formal advisory committee to Council and the City's new Aboriginal Partnerships Advisor role, in addition to National Reconciliation Week activities and NAIDOC events held locally.

This year, the Boola Maara was co-chaired by Elected Members Carol Adams and Barry Winmar, and Cr Matthew Rowse was also a Boola Maara Member, up until the 21 October Local Government Election. Membership included Elder Dot Getta, Community Leader Cindy Ballard, Community leader Marie Walley, Medina Aboriginal Corporation Chairperson Paul Garlett, Koya Aboriginal Corporation

Representative Lisa Garlett, and Marianne McKay Headland.

Council agreed to establish an Aboriginal advisory committee as a formal committee to Council pursuant to Section 5.8 of the Local Government Act 1995.

The existing Boola Maara will engage on the terms of reference and operations for the committee and present to Council which will then consider the terms of reference and details of the intended membership.

Home Library Delivery

Did you know the Kwinana Public Library provides a free home library delivery service for residents who live in the City of Kwinana who are unable to visit the library due to short-term or long-term disability or health problems?

The service includes library staff selecting appropriate items according to a personalised profile. Items are delivered and picked up every two weeks from your front door providing a safe and convenient delivery service. There is no maximum or minimum duration to use this service.

If you or someone you know would benefit from using this service, please fill out this form or contact Library staff on 9236 4300 for more information.

Moorditj Kulungars

The City facilitates the Moorditj Kulungar Playgroup and has fostered relationships with the Ngalla Yorga Waangkan (We Women Talking) group through intergenerational activities and initiatives.

Both groups went to Myalup Pines for an Indigenous intergenerational camp in April 2023 where 20 children, 13 parents, and 10 Ngalla Yorgas spent a weekend preparing meals together, sharing recipes, and yarning.

They created art pieces and enjoyed outings, including watching Gina Williams and Guy Ghouse perform and getting a meet and greet with the talented musical duo! Everyone left the camp with a strong connection to their culture, moort (family), and boodjar (Country).

The Ngalla Yorgas returned to the playgroup to formally recognise and reward volunteer Tony Lillimagi and grandmother Christine Ford who helped at the camp.

Special recognition was also given to the much-loved Moorditj Kulungars' Play Leader and Aboriginal Support Worker Fran Windon for her dedication spanning more than a decade with the playgroup.

Fran started working as an aide for the playgroup 11 years ago and now leads the weekly group of eight to 12 families, also planning special events for significant community dates including NAIDOC Week celebrations.

Youth in Kwinana

The Kwinana Youth Advisory Council (KYAC) restructured to include representation from all three high schools in the area, as well as young people engaged with further education, training, and employment.

The KYAC also featured among the finalists for the Y WA Collective Action Award at the National WA Youth Awards, and special congratulations to KYAC chair Steph Beaumont who was named WA Young Leader of the Year and Belle Cardew who was also a finalist for that award. You may have seen the KYAC out and about at City events like Summer Sounds in Honeywood where they planned and delivered youth activities, in addition to a Halloween-themed Chamber of Chills event at The Zone Youth Space.

The KYAC will also make presentations to Elected Members, provide consultation on the City's precinct plans and the Honeywood Oval Pump Track in Wandi, the Lolly Run and more.

Koorliny brings people together to celebrate the arts

Koorliny Arts Centre is the heart of the arts within the City of Kwinana, and staff are passionate about bringing people together to celebrate creativity, culture, and connection.

Koorliny delights in welcoming the community through the doors – familiar faces and new, curious ones – to invite connection and create a sense of belonging.

Although 2023 has had its challenges, such as cost of living impacts, Koorliny is celebrating its many successes, especially its inhouse musical productions – Catch Me If You Can and Peter Pan, both of which attracted huge community support.

Critically acclaimed productions from Yirra Yaakin Theatre Company, Theatre 180 and Barking Gecko Theatre Company, a Gina Williams and Guy Ghouse concert, the week-long Kwinana Dance Festival, and several community theatre productions rounded out a busy year in the main theatre.

Koorliny also activated its upgraded courtyard space with sundowner events.

In 2024, in addition to two fully staged musical productions as part of the Performance Season, Koorliny is programming a range of diverse and entertaining community theatre productions, concerts, plays, new creative workshops and classes, sundowner events and more.

In Nyoongar language, Koorliny means travelling, the coming or going from a place. It is pronounced koor-lin, with the y not articulated.

Fight the Bite

Protect yourself while outdoors by ensuring you take precautions against mosquito bites during this time of the year.

1. Cover up – wear long, loose-fitting, light-coloured clothing, covering as much of the body as you can.
2. Repel – when you're outdoors and mosquitoes are present, apply insect repellent containing DEET (diethyltoluamide) or picaridin evenly to exposed skin.
3. Clean Up – simple changes around your home can reduce mosquito breeding. Remove, empty or cover water-holding containers.
